

The Importance of Doing Useless Things

From poetry and ballet to mathematics and being clever, life is laden with frivolous pursuits that hold no bearing on our ability to survive. Yet, insists Richard Dawkins, if it weren't for the development of these impractical activities, we wouldn't be here

Response to this subject: by mahmoud saneipour

Sure, doing every useless thing very harm and sin, such bacchanalian ,those whoever do useless activity, he is Mischief and destroyed the rights of people, every activity should be usefulness for her/his-self and to others certainty, overtheless, he/she is murder, terrorist and injustice existence in the world.

The world has created basis on Truthousnesses, and usefulness things and those who does beneficial work, he/she in victory and be certain, Countries those have bacchanalian ,frivolity or bad and usefulness hobbies, caused be generated chain markets monophonically, companies, s stores by so much mass production monophonically too, and others hidden or unhidden injustice behaviors, are lead within attacks of these poisonous energy and this is a part of historical events those impossible to escape from them.

On other hand, these tyrannous equations are unsettling every day, because so many righteous scientist and Wiseman try to make bankrupt these liar equations and this constant battling will generate the new challenges and increase paradoxes and difficulties so much, and this way, appeared revaluation's nations and countries, and swords have fastened hard to back-grounds continually and these beliefs and battling in the way of the objective surly and these events are determinists no doubt, and everyone should know that rights are presume truth and this current makes its-self anti-current automatically